Become an AIT Scholar

Empowering and creating the next generation of technologists of African descent.

At Sankofatech, We are Building a pipeline of talented Black software engineers & data scientists Nationwide. We support Black college students in their journey to become successful engineers.

Achievers In Technology Program (AIT)

Sankofatech's Achievers in Technology (AIT) program is an intensive, four-year initiative designed to cultivate the next wave of Black technology leaders in the United States.

Recognizing that young people of African descent often overlook technology careers due to limited industry awareness, community misconceptions (such as a perceived lack of prestige), and a scarcity of resources, AIT seeks to address these challenges head-on.

AIT Program Benefits

AIT scholars will receive numerous benefits by participating in the program, and some of these benefits include:

- ✓ An annual $500 scholarship award (only awarded the first two years)
- ✓ Mentorship
- ✓ Technical Interview Prep Services
- ✓ Diverse Network of Black Tech Professionals
- ✓ Opportunity to attend a Tech Conference

Program Requirements

To apply, the scholar must:

- ✓ Be of African descent.
- ✓ Be a high school senior or undergraduate student based in the United States.
- ✓ Demonstrate interest in pursuing a career in technology.
- ✓ Commit to active participation in program activities, workshops, and mentorship sessions.
- ✓ Show academic potential and a desire to make a positive impact in the tech industry.

BrownMill: Streetwear Meets Heritage

BrownMill is more than a clothing brand—it's a movement rooted in craftsmanship, culture, and community. What began as a vision has grown into a collective of creatives, strategists, and innovators redefining modern streetwear while honoring tradition.

Led by Justis Pitt-Goodson, Kwaku Agyemang, and Taha Shimou, our team blends design, content, business, and culture to build something bigger than fashion—it's legacy in motion.

We're not on the ground, but the movement is.
Tap in. Get inspired. Join the journey.
